From the Desk of Msgr. John

During the Lenten Season, let's reflect upon the Seven Last Words of Christ:

Father Forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing.—Luke 23:34

Lord, Jesus, from what miraculous storehouse do you produce your daunting ability to forgive? Your absolution sounds so foreign, for our scheming persecutors seem to know exactly what they are doing. Perhaps your words refer to a different sort of ignorance, not of intention, but of kinship. We forget that the people we feel justified in hating are children of God, our sisters and brothers, and "other Christs." Open our hearts to the forgiveness that fosters holy communion.

Woman, Here is your Son. Here is your Mother.—John 19:26-27

Lord, Jesus, even in the final moments of your life you put others before yourself. You might easily have turned inward to process private thoughts or personal pain. Instead, you lovingly charged your disciples to care for each other. Perhaps in times of loss, you Spirit instinctively moves us to be vulnerable, compassionate, and connected. May we embrace these virtues in faith.
