

September 7, 2008: 23rd Sunday in Ordinary Time

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother. If he does not listen, take one or two others along with you, so that ‘every fact may be established on the testimony of two or three witnesses.’” - Mt 18:15-16

Pro-Life: Pray for all who have grown very old: that we might cherish their wisdom, give thanks for their presence, and remind them daily of how much we love them.

From the Desk of Father John

A topic of major concern in this day and time is that of cohabitation. Chances are that you know at least one unmarried couple living together. Maybe you're living with someone yourself. Or maybe you're thinking about moving in with a "significant other."

Until 1970, cohabitation was illegal throughout the United States. Society considered it scandalous to live together outside the bonds of marriage. In fact, a common term for cohabitation was "living in sin."

But secular attitudes have changed. According to U.S. Census reports, more than 5 million unmarried men and women are living together in the United States, an increase of one thousand percent since 1960.

Pick up a magazine and you'll see celebrities who choose cohabitation over marriage. Characters in books, television shows, and movies "shack up together." What started as a deviation from the norm has become socially acceptable for people in all age groups, races, and socio-economic levels.

Today, over 50 percent of newly married couples have lived together before their wedding. Fourteen percent of them had lived with a previous partner. The implication is clear: "Everyone's doing it. No problem. Just two people, making a personal choice."

The Catholic Church disagrees.

As Catholics, we believe that marriage is the permanent union of a man and a woman, instituted by God, for the good of both spouses and for bringing new life into the world.

This love between a man and a woman is more than just sexual chemistry. It involves the total giving of each person's physical, emotional, intellectual, and spiritual being without any reservations. In the eyes of the Catholic Church, marriage can never be considered a temporary or "trial" arrangement.

These are not arbitrary beliefs. They are grounded in the revelation of God and the teachings of Jesus Christ. The Sacrament of Matrimony, the importance of the family, the sacredness of sex, and the dignity of the human person are part of God's divine plan.

If we're honest, we will admit that God's ways are the best ways for human beings. In the case of marriage, researchers can prove it is true. Studies show that married people attain higher levels of personal happiness, emotional fulfillment, sexual satisfaction, mental stability, good health, and positive relationships with extended family members.

When couples choose to cohabit; however, there is no spiritual foundation for the union, no lifelong commitment, and no promise of fidelity, which leaves the relationship open to feelings of instability. If couples see their relationship as merely a sexual union that can be terminated when passions cool, boredom sets in, or someone more interesting comes along, the result can be disastrous.

Prayer for Rain: Almighty God, we are in need of rain. We realize now, looking up into the clear, blue sky, what a marvel even the least drop of rain really is. To think that so much water can fall out of the sky, which now is empty and clear! We place our trust in You. Look on our dry hills and fields, dear God, and bless them with the living blessing of soft rain. Then the land will rejoice, and the rivers will sing Your praises, and the hearts of men will be made glad. Amen.
