

JUNE 19, 2011: The Most Holy Trinity

God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him might not perish but might have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him. — Jn 3:16-17

From the Desk of Father John

Today, we celebrate Father's Day. Here is a beautiful prayer for fathers to pray to our Heavenly Father:

Dear Father in Heaven, as a father, help me to follow Your example to be patient, to be caring, to be understanding, to be forgiving, to be firm, to be compassionate, to be a teacher, to be loving, to be a good listener, and most importantly to be there as a parent as You are always there for me. Amen.

Let us pray for all our Fathers, living and deceased, today and everyday.

PRAYER FOR RAIN – Almighty God, we are in need of rain. We realize now, looking up into the clear, blue sky, what a marvel even the least drop of rain really is. To think that so much water can fall out of the sky, which now is empty and clear! We place our trust in You. We are sure that You know our needs. But You want us to ask You anyway, to show You that we know we are dependent on You. Look on our dry hills and fields, dear God, and bless them with the living blessing of soft rain. Then the land will rejoice, and the rivers will sing Your praises, and the hearts of men will be made glad. Amen.

Give them grace and patience to handle situations in a loving way. Help them to be a father like You are. Grant that we, their sons and daughters, may honor them always with a spirit of profound respect. Amen!

Most Holy Trinity – In broadcasting this year's Packers-Steelers Super Bowl game, FOX Sports rejected a thirty-second ad featuring the Scripture citation, John 3:16. The citation periodically pops up on signs held by fans in end zone shots, even though television networks are getting skilled at eliminating such scenes from their broadcasts. The ad rejected by FOX Sports did appear in the Washington, DC and Birmingham, Alabama markets just before the fourth quarter. A close-up of a defensive player's face after a tackle shows the Scripture citation painted on his eye black. Even with that limited exposure, enough people logged in that the Internet traffic crashed the sponsor's Web site.

As we celebrate the feast of the Most Holy Trinity this weekend, we hear the actual text to which the citation refers: "God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him might not perish but might have eternal life." The life of the Holy Trinity is one of pure and total love. That is the love we are celebrating today: complete and unconditional, sacrificial and eternal.

We could emulate the zeal of those who are so intent on proclaiming John 3:16 at every opportunity, but not necessarily their methods. Holding up signs at football games or producing a commercial may entice the curious, but these actions don't necessarily lead to lifelong conversion. But if people see in our way of living the example of love that is lived within the Trinity, then people will be attracted naturally to the faith. While we may consider the Trinity an abstraction about God, it is really an expression of the deepest love, love so intense that the three persons - Father, Son, and Holy Spirit - are one. Our own human love will never be that complete, but if we strive for that in our own lives others will come to share in what we believe.

We Live Within the Mystery

For the Christian, the question is not “Is there a God?” Rather it is “Who is our God?” Moses knew the One God as “I Am.” As he climbed Mt. Sinai after the breaking of the covenant by the Israelites, he gained a new understanding of the essence of God. God is merciful, gracious, slow to anger, and rich in kindness and fidelity. Moses realized the compassionate nature of God, who restored the covenant relationship to a stiffed-necked people.

Like Moses, the Church has come to understand the nature of God in gradual degrees. The Pauline letters are some of the earliest text that link the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. For example, in the first letter to the Corinthians he invoked the presence of the Trinity in the midst of the community bestowing grace, peace and fellowship.

The Gospel passage for this feast describes what God has done for the world through his Son, Jesus. God’s love became personalized in Jesus whose salvific self-offering was graced by the gift of the Holy Spirit. It is the Spirit who forms and builds up the community in love, forgiveness and peace.

The word “Trinity” was first used by Tertullian in the second century. The mystery of the Trinity was defined in the fourth and fifth centuries to describe the essence of God. The concept of the Trinity has scriptural roots in the experience of the early Church who came to understand the one God in three persons, which the creeds later defined. The Triune God is but one of the great mysteries of our faith.

The Faith of the Church

The Church defines the Trinity as three distinct persons, whole and entire, in one God. The relationship that exists between Father, Son, and Holy Spirit is one of divine unity. Each is wholly in the other. Each person of the Trinity is God, whole and complete. There exists in the Triune God a communion, a community of love. In other words, the divine union is not divided by the concept of distinct persons (Cf. Catechism of the Catholic Church 253–255).

Questions of the Week

Love is the motivating force behind God’s gift of his Son. Thus, Jesus is the consummate revelation and most powerful expression of God’s great love. This love moves us to examine our own response. Do we believe? Do we act out of this belief?

Adults

How can the greatness of God’s love direct my daily actions, words, and thoughts?

Children

How would I describe God to someone else?

*Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity.
Solemnity of the Nativity of Saint John the Baptist.

Responding to God's Word . . .

There is no doubt that the mystery of the Trinity cannot be understood intellectually. It is a matter of faith. We believe in the living community of Father, Son, and Spirit as the One God, bound together in love. It is the power of love that creates the community of three persons in one God, and the power of love that creates community in the world. God's very essence is a model for our relationships.

We enter into this Triune relationship through the redemptive action of Jesus in the power of the Holy Spirit. Everyone who follows

Christ does so because he is drawn by the Father and moved by the Spirit.

If we are to love as God loves, and share in his perfect unity, we must direct our lives to forming and strengthening community and serving others.

In the second reading from Paul's letter to the Corinthians, he exhorts us to mend our ways, encourage one another and compromise. We need to come to a place of communal harmony. All of our relationships are to be permeated with Paul's challenge. In this way, love and peace will be a sign to others that God is in our midst.

SUGGESTIONS

Use one of these suggestions or one of your own to respond to God's Word this week.

In the home. Make the Sign of the Cross each day as a true profession of faith in the God who is our Creator, Redeemer, and Sanctifier.

In the workplace or in school. Catch yourself whenever you start to judge someone or to say something negative about another.

In the community. Visit a nearby Byzantine or Eastern Orthodox Church to view the icons, particularly those of the Trinity.

Meditation Moment

Dr. Sheila Cassidy went to Chile to work among the poorest of the poor. One day she treated an opposition leader. The secret police learned about it, arrested her, and tortured her. She writes in Audacity to Believe: "After four days of physical pain . . . I was left completely alone in a small room. . . . Incredibly . . . I was filled with joy, for I knew . . . that God was with me, and that nothing they could do to me could change that." Sheila now understood Jesus' words, "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul."

For reflection . . .

*What am I most afraid of in my life?
What do I say to Jesus about it?*

LORD, I DO NOT ASK THAT I NEVER BE AFFLICTED, BUT ONLY THAT YOU NEVER ABANDON ME IN AFFLICTION.
