

March 20, 2011: Second Sunday of Lent

Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. And he was transfigured before them; his face shone like the sun and his clothes became white as light. And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, conversing with him. — Mt 17:1-3

March 22: Lent: A Season of Penance and Purification

Each year the Church gives us an intense season that we call Lent, so that we can prepare to celebrate the greatest feast of the Church, the Resurrection of our Lord from the dead on Easter. But where did all our Lenten practices come from which characterize this season ... abstaining from meat ... ashes ... giving up things? Come and learn about the origins of our Lenten observance.

The Confiteor – "I Confess"

Form A of the penitential act (Confiteor), the "I confess to almighty God..." which is the most widely used, will have a graver tone to it. Sin is serious business, because it is our own free choice to turn away from what is good and to do what is evil. Therefore, we cannot take our own sinfulness too lightly, or casually dismiss our own culpability; otherwise we tend to ignore our personal responsibility for these sins and neglect to seek reconciliation with God and with others. The original Latin text of the "I confess" perceives all sin, no matter venial or mortal, as a great offense against God. This is because God is perfectly holy and perfectly good, and so when we set our sins (even the smallest ones) against the perfect holiness and perfect goodness of God, these sins are revealed as a stark contrast to God's perfection which is greatly noticeable to God. Therefore we confess, that we have not only sinned, but we have "greatly sinned." The path to forgiveness requires that we first "own up" to our sins and claim responsibility for these sins. We have to admit that these sins were committed through no one's fault other than our own. However, our fallen human nature is inclined to blame everyone else but ourselves. Just look at Adam. When God asked Adam why he ate the forbidden fruit, Adam blamed not only Eve, but also God who gave Eve to him! So to combat this ill tendency of ours to pass the blame to someone else, the Church has us admit three times that the sins we have committed were perpetrated "through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault" while striking our chest three times as a sign of our sorrow and repentance.

Second Sunday of Lent

While it may be just a little early to plant outside, in much of the country there are plenty of folks who have already started seeds indoors. If you are one of the many individuals bitten by the gardening bug, you know how hard it is to wait for that first ripe tomato or the first picking of fresh lettuce. There are even plenty of commercial products that help gardeners push the envelope of the gardening season, with promises of early harvests such as, "Pick tomatoes three weeks before your neighbors." Novice gardeners are often easy prey to this kind of hype, while experienced growers know that there are only a few things that can be done to "push" the season. Even then, most of those techniques depend on the vagaries of spring weather.

We are only ten days into Lent and already we get an image of what can be. Like the home gardener who can taste the tomato even as the seeds are being planted in starter pots, the transfiguration of Jesus is an image for the disciples of what the Resurrection will be. In the Transfiguration, God's power is made manifest, revealing Jesus as the beloved Son. He fulfills the law (represented by Moses) and the prophets (represented by Elijah). Jesus is also the One who gives true teaching, as the voice commands the disciples to, "Listen to Him."

The story of the Transfiguration near the beginning of Lent is meant to spur us on to the final goal, which is the renewal of our baptismal vows at Easter. During these forty days we consider our sinfulness and reinvigorate our commitment to the faith. In the natural world, the signs of new life become evident in the seedlings that start to appear. In the same way, our prayer, fasting, and almsgiving show a renewed faith that will be affirmed at Easter along with those who will be baptized.

Daily Lenten Prayer:

Today Lord I choose life. I choose your love and the challenge to live it and share it. I choose hope, even in moments of darkness. I choose faith, accepting You as Lord and God. I choose to let go of some part of my burdens, day by day handing them over to You. I choose to take hold of Your strength and power ever more deeply in my life. May this truly be for me a time of new life, of change, challenge and growth. May I come to Easter with a heart open to dying with You and rising to Your new life, day by day. Amen.

Our Father.....

Mary, Mother of Jesus, you were Jesus' gift for us from the Cross. He gave you to us as our mother. Intercede for all our needs.

Hail Mary..... Glory be.....
